

680

FICO® Score 8 (TransUnion)

GOOD*

⚠ Limited Credit History (Thin File)

- Score based on only 2 accounts with 24 months of history.
- No derogatory marks, collections, or public records on file.
- Score of 680 is considered "Good" but limited data reduces predictive reliability.
- Lenders may require additional documentation or apply manual underwriting.
- Building history with 1–2 additional trade lines could raise score to 720+ within 12 months.

FICO® SCORE FACTORS & CREDIT BUILDING GUIDANCE

#	Factor	Impact	Guidance
1	Limited credit history — only 2 years	Limiting	Score will naturally increase as accounts age. No action needed beyond consistency.
2	Only 2 trade lines — insufficient mix	Limiting	Consider adding an installment or secured card to increase account diversity.
3	Perfect payment history (100% on-time, 24 months)	Positive	Excellent foundation — maintain this record.
4	Low utilization (18%) on revolving account	Positive	Keeping utilization below 30% is ideal. Current level is healthy.

#	Factor	Impact	Guidance
5	No derogatory marks of any kind	Positive	Clean file is the best starting point for credit building.

Analyst Note — Thin File Assessment:

Yuki T. Nakamura presents a thin-file credit profile consistent with a recent graduate or young professional entering the credit system. The absence of any negative information, combined with consistent on-time payments and moderate utilization, suggests responsible financial behavior. Lenders should weigh the short history against the clean track record. This consumer is a strong candidate for credit line increases or new installment products designed for credit-building customers.
